

BECOME AN OFFICIAL

Has your child retired from minor hockey? Have you retired from your career? Stay involved in the game by becoming an official! Officiating is a rewarding way to participate in the great game of hockey while earning extra spending money! Below are some reasons why becoming an official (at any age) can benefit you.

STAY IN THE GAME...

1

GIVE BACK

Give back to the game you love and enhance the experience for players at all ages

2

ACCOUNTABILITY

Communication and accountability are great skills on and off the ice. Challenge yourself by honing these skills while in a fast-paced environment and help hold each other accountable.

3

STAY ACTIVE

Stay active and keep your body moving while taking the ice to do something you love

4

EXPAND YOUR SKILLS

Being able to see the game from a different perspective and using those skills off the ice helps to build transferable skill sets

5

BUILD RELATIONSHIPS

Make friends and build relationships on and off the ice

6

FLEXIBILITY

Officiating provides a flexible schedule that can fit any lifestyle or time commitment level

7

PERSONAL GROWTH

Take on new challenges and push yourself out of your comfort zone by trying something new
